Help Us Help You

When to call 911:

- An uncontrolled fire breaks out in a building, vehicle, power pole or a wildland fire is burning out of control.
- A life-threatening medical emergency such as chest pain, choking, difficulty speaking, confusion, drowning, loss of consciousness, shortness of breath, severe bleeding, poisoning/overdose, sudden intense pain, severe burns, a suicide, threat or trauma.
- A vehicle crash with injuries, hazardous material spill or a person in need of rescue.
- If you witness a crime such as assault or burglary.

When calling 911 know your location, it is one of the first things you will be asked, answer all the dispatcher's questions and don't hang up until they tell you to. Follow all instructions from the dispatcher to the best of your ability.

When NOT to call 911:

- A loud party or barking dog, a power outage, burst water pipes or paying a ticket.
- You have a cold or flu symptoms, food poisoning, a fever, someone has a minor cut or injury capable of going to urgent care on their own.
- If you see smoke or flames off in the distance but can't tell what is on fire, odds are it's a controlled burn, please verify what is burning before calling 911.
- If you come upon a vehicle off the road or appears to be in a collision, please stop and ask if anyone is hurt or wants an ambulance before calling 911.
- You have a need to go to the hospital for a non-emergent reason but don't have a means of transportation call an ambulance company directly instead of 911.

Never call 911 for any situation that's clearly not an emergency.

2019 False Alarms

Outdoor open burning	37
Non-injury vehicle collisions or car off road	30
Automatic Fire Alarms	44
Automatic Medical Alarms	13
Medical call where no aid was wanted	37

Help us reduce false alarms:

- In 2019 we had 161 false alarms.
- If you have a fire alarm system in your home or business have it serviced annually and ensure the alarm company has a valid phone number for you.
- If you have a medic alert type medical alarm, ensure the button for help is not too easily activated and the alarm company has a valid phone number for you.
- If you have either type of alarm and you accidentally set your alarm off notify your company right away it is a false alarm and/or answer your phone immediately.
- Remember we live in an agriculture community where open burning is common. If you see smoke or fire at a distance and are unsure what is burning, please verify the fire is not a controlled burn before calling 911. If an open burn is bothering you contact Clean Air.

Resources you can use for non-emergency situations:

- An issue with a burn permit, open burning or smoke that is not a threat to life or property, call directly to Yakima Regional Clean Air Agency (509) 834-2050, they regulate burning.
- A Fire code issue such as driveways, weedy lots and other potential fire hazards are handled by Yakima County Fire Marshal (509) 574-2300.
- A building code issue or any other issue with codes call Yakima County (509) 884-9515.
- If you have a non-emergent need for an ambulance to transport to the hospital you may call them directly for assistance. In West Valley we are served by both Advanced Life Systems (509) 574-8444 and American Medical Response (509) 248-3611.
- Calling 911 and going to the hospital via ambulance, contrary to popular belief, does not get you seen faster. All hospital emergency rooms triage incoming patients and see them in order of priority based on severity of illness or injury. If you are sick and need to see your doctor we suggest, if you have a ride, contact your doctor's office or an urgent care clinic for treatment rather than calling 911. With the closing of Astria Hospital Yakima, non-life-threatening medical problems at Memorial will cause long delays in treatment.
- If you are unsure of who can help with your issue call 211 and ask for assistance.

When in doubt call 911! Never hesitate to call 911 for an emergency. If you are not sure just call and the 911 operator will determine who best can help your situation.

If you have any questions about our capabilities or limitations, please call us (509) 966-3111 and we can answer your questions.
